

Missing Librarian Found; Physician Still Missing

Mystery of the absence of the newly-appointed medical librarian at Community Hospital was solved Tuesday, but the disappearance of a newly-appointed resident physician remained unsolved.

Dr. H. W. S. Hayes, superintendent at the county institution, declared he had been given the double-cross by Miss Ethel M. Irwin, 52, whom he had appointed to the job of chief medical records librarian, who has accepted a position in Carmel.

Dr. Hayes was worried, however, over the disappearance of Dr. Paul Beddoe of Alhambra, who left the hospital Friday night to get his personal belongings and has not been heard from since.

Miss Irwin, whose name was given to the missing persons' bureau in San Francisco after she failed to show up for work at Community Hospital last Tuesday as she had promised, was found at the Canterbury Hotel in San Francisco.

Dr. Hayes said Miss Irwin apparently has accepted a position as medical records librarian at the Peninsula Community Hospital in Carmel.

Dr. Hayes had written Miss Irwin, who had been assistant to the superintendent of a hospital in Honolulu for the past year, that there would be an opening at Community Hospital and asked if she would be interested. She replied that she would, and on June 26, after her arrival in San Francisco, she telephoned Dr. Hayes and said she would arrive at the hospital the next day. She never showed up.

Meantime, Dr. Hayes contacted Miss Katherine G. Smits, superintendent of the Peninsula Community Hospital at Carmel, and after comparing notes, he learned they had received almost identical responses from Miss Irwin. Miss Smits had written Miss Irwin in Honolulu to see if she would be interested in a job at Carmel and she replied that she would. When she arrived in San Francisco, Miss Irwin telephoned Miss Smits but was told Miss Smits was in San Francisco. The two not together and Miss Irwin said she would be on the job at Carmel July 5.

Miss Smits told Dr. Hayes she knew nothing about Miss Irwin's appointment to the San Mateo County post.

Dr. Hayes said he had received

$30,185 Worth of Bonds Sold at R.C. Celebration

Members of the Peninsula Celebration Assn., American Legion, Canadian Legion, Disabled American Veterans, American Legion Auxiliary and American Red Cross today were able to take a deep breath knowing that their efforts in the civic Fourth of July celebration resulted in a huge gathering at Hawes Park yesterday.

Official figures released today showed bond sales of $30,185 which added to the 799,620 total through July 3 brought sales up to $829,805.

Slightly more than $50,000 is now needed if the quota is to be met on July 12.

Opening with a pie eating contest at 11 o'clock, the day's events included softball games, a horse show, outdoor dancing and intermittent band music winding up with a mammoth bonfire at 10 p.m.

W. H. Augustus, speaker of the day, set the theme when he urged all never "to forget that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

"Our first objective on this 168th anniversary of our national independence must be to win the victory," he said. "After victory, he continued, we must win the peace and it must be a peace within the framework of our constitution, one which will retain our American ideals and institutions; our rights as individuals and as a sovereign nation."

"While many of us are not acceptable for front line duty and our part on the home front and that front includes the buying of war bonds with every extra dollar we have."

Shipyard Representatives Protest 'Possessory Interest' Assessment

Representatives of Belair Shipyard and Western Pipe & Steel Co. at South San Francisco Wednesday made formal protest to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors against the "possessory interest" assessment by County Assessor Martin J. Flynn.

The board approved Flynn's assessments, clearing the way for a lawsuit test of the assessment, but not until Bradford Bosley, Belair representative, protested that the possessory interest tax was an illegal attempt to tax United States property.

He produced a witness, William R. Lawson, to testify that Barrett & Hilp, operators of Belair, have nothing but a contractual right to use facilities owned by U.S. Maritime Commission for construction of concrete barges.

Lawson testified that the original contract for 26 ships has been cut to 20, and that the yard expects to complete its contract in October.

Bosley examined Flynn, who admitted that an assessment of $110,000 last year had been cut to $58,034 this year.

Bosley maintained that the operators of the shipyards have no interest or possession in the property; that the maritime commission is in fact the owner of the property; that any possessory interest is so momentary and nominal that the assessment should be cut to $1; that no other possessory interest except Western Pipe & Steel Co. has been taxed in the country and that personal property has been included in the assessment, which is not permissible.

Western Pipe & Steel Co. was represented by Charles J. Wiseman, who merely gave formal notice of the company's protests.

Car Crashes Rail — Two Injured

Evelyn Sturini, 27, 302 Hopkins Ave., and Enier G. Isometsa, 31, sailor stationed at Tanforan, received minor injuries at 8:50 p.m. last Tuesday when the automobile in which they were riding failed to negotiate a curve on Skyline Blvd. The car ran into a guard rail, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Isometsa, driver of the car, was cited to military authorities by the CHP. The injured couple was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo for treatment.

I CAN'T AFFORD 'EM, BUT I WANT TO BUY SOME MORE WAR BONDS

NOT ONLY THEIR WAR

A soldier parked a jeep near a parking meter in Charlotte, N. C., and a bystander said, "Better put a nickel in the meter, soldier."

The soldier replied: "You put a nickel, Mister. It belongs to you as much as to me."

This civilian not only should have put the nickel in, but he should have gone somewhere at once and bought a flock of war bonds. The soldier's crack should have taught him the one big thing we civilians should remember: this war belongs to us as much as to the fighters.

Maybe we have delegated the dying and the suffering, but we shouldn't dodge the digging. Let's invest in invasion—let's buy more bonds.

J-M PRODUCTS MOVING WAR-WARD

"I am now stationed at the Stockton Ordnance Depot, in California, one of the largest automotive depots in the U.S. In my travels through our warehouses, many J-M products catch my eye, such as insulate, clutch facings, brake linings, asbestos paper and packings, which go overseas in tremendous volume."

"During the past 17 months, never a day has ended that some of the training I have acquired in the past 15 years with Johns-Manville has not been used to good advantage."—Lt. Henry L. Meyers, former Salesman, J-M San Francisco office.

THERE HAVE TO BE GENERALS

An army must have a general and he must be boss. Likewise, every peanut stand and every railroad train and every factory has to have a general. He has to know about and meet competition, and he has to please the customers and the people who own the business as well as the people who work for it. He has to know his stuff well enough to keep the business going so that there will be jobs as well as profits.

We're a free people and we don't particularly like to be bossed around. But we have to have generals to keep things ticking. And we can't all be generals.

The manager of any business is the general. If he doesn't succeed, there aren't jobs for anybody—including himself.

"WE THINK EVERYBODY SHOULD BE A GENERAL"

LITTLE BITS OF J-M HISTORY

In 1925, Thomas F. Manville, who more than any other man was responsible for developing the Johns-Manville company on such a firm foundation, died. He was succeeded in active management by his brother, H. E. Manville, who remained as a director until 1939, when he resigned after fifty years of helpfulness to the company.

In 1927, the company passed from limited to wide ownership (now about 8,000 stockholders). The new president was Theodore F. Merseles, who came from Montgomery Ward & Company, and brought with him as his assistant, the man who was to take over in 1929 and lead the company to the present day—Lewis H. Brown.

J-M has made great progress in those years from 1927 to 1944. More on that, next time.

3000 Attend San Carlos Fourth of July Celebration

SAN CARLOS — "The Best and Biggest Fourth" slogan for this year's celebration at the Recreation Center in San Carlos was realized when more than 3000 people were entertained Tuesday with one major event after another crowding the hours from 11 a.m. to after 5 p.m.

The 38-piece military brass band from Ft. Mason started the day off with a "bang." Highlighting the noon hour, the band presented a concert of old favorites and popular tunes, "dressed up in new arrangements" under direction of C.W.O. Louis C. Tilden.

The parade led by Chief Ed. Wheeler as grand marshal started the day's event with the auxiliary police and firemen in uniform, the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cubs, Brownies, YMCA, the band and Jo-Jo the clown all preceding the costumed children's parade.

The parade finished in front of the grand stand. Harvey Carlson, in a welcome address, praised the work of Jack Kemp who had charge of arrangements for the celebration and urged the people to "back the attack" by buying more war bonds at the bond booths.

Winners of prizes in the parade were: The most beautiful float, "Buy Bonds for Independence" with Martina Golestein and small brother in Uncle Sam costumes; most original, the "Vegetable Wagon" with Jeannette Allen; the best decorated wagon, "Army Doctor" with Vernon Justus and group; second, "Red Cross Girls" with Mary Gillespie and little sister; best decorated buggy, "Goddess of Liberty" with Dean Littlejohn and group; second, "Fifth War Loan" with Phyllis Emery and group; best decorated group, "Dewey the Wonder Boy" and "Roosevelt the Indispensable Man" with Robert Bell and Dick West; best decorated bicycle, Jean Porter; second, Shirley Simon; best marching unit, Girl Scouts. Ed Burton, parade chairman made the awards. Judges were Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, Miss Ruth Melendy and A. L. Boucher.

Highlighting the day was Jo-Jo the famous clown who put on his own special performance and helped in behalf of war bond sales. During his show he played the accordion while little Mirna Wessel danced a hula dance. A continuous entertainment was provided by the PTA, with Cantini the magician.

During the lunch hour a special tribute was paid Mrs. Mary Shields, sister of the late Mayor Asa Hull, and a native daughter of San Carlos.

Booths which provided food and entertainment all during the day were operated by the Junior Matrons, the 75 club, the Community Church Guild, the Girl Scouts, the Girls' Club, the Masons, the American Legion and the Manor Club. Mr. and Mrs. Svend Nielsen were in charge of the bond sale booth with the assistance of the Legion auxiliary.

The athletic field, decorated with many American flags, was the scene of the afternoon's entertainment for the boys and girls. The program was arranged by the Athletic Club under the chairmanship of Earl Mitchell and Ralph Shaw.

Nine races with many novel features were offered.

The horseshoe contest pitting Ed Burton and Roy Gove against Police Chief Ed Wheeler and Roy Collins drew a large crowd. The councilmen won. In other horseshoe contests, the Carlsons won over the Junior Matrons and Allen Vignau, Peninsula champion again took the honors of the day.

In the soft ball games the Park Buns won over the Boys' Club 7-2, and a second game Dibble Hospital beat the San Carlos Athletic Club B Team 14-13.

The first festivity of the Fourth of July celebration, the dance at the school auditorium Monday evening, drew a crowd of over two hundred, who danced in a hall gayly decorated in patriotic colors, to Jack Petty's band. The Holy Name Society with George Pidge as chairman was in charge.

Mr. Kemp, as chairman of the day, was assisted by Harvey Carlson, co-chairman, Mrs. Beatrice Roberts, treasurer and Ralph Shaw, secretary.

Chief Mark E. Ryan this week hurled the lie at Councilman Floyd D. Granger for a statement he allegedly made to the effect that veterans' organizations were not welcome to use the auditorium in the fire department building.

Chief Ryan, in a letter read to the Redwood City City Council by City Clerk Ralph S. Dodge, declared the statement "has no semblance of truth whatsoever, and the statement cannot be backed up by facts."

Chief Ryan said Granger's statement was made at an adjourned meeting of the War Memorial Committee on June 26.

Chief Ryan, in his letter to the council, to which Granger did not comment, read:

"It has been brought to the writer's attention of a statement made at your adjourned meeting of June 26 by Councilman Granger to the effect that the veterans' organizations used the auditorium of the fire department building for a time after War I and words to the effect that the veterans' organizations soon learned that they were not wanted."

"Please be advised that the writer has been chief of the fire department during the existence of this building and during the period, the veterans' organizations used the building as their meeting place, the volunteer fire department itself made the policies of the conduct of the hall, and the writer, as chief, carried them out."

"And please further be advised, a great portion of the membership at that time were veterans of World War I, and there are many citizens, known well in this community today, who were members."

"And may I also speak for the ones who have passed on, by making the statement of the honorable gentleman, in its entirety. It has no semblance of truth whatsoever and the statement cannot be backed up by facts and further be advised, there are filed away in fire department headquarters the minutes of every meeting held during my incumbency and I invite any member of the council to see if they can find any word of an unkind nature towards any veterans' organization."

"And further be advised that the American Legion or any veterans' organization never asked any assistance of any kind from the members of the Redwood City Fire Dept. that they didn't get it forthwith with the finest spirit."

Chief Ryan's letter was filed without comment. Only by reference to the matter came later in the meeting when Councilman Granger objected to adoption of the salary ordinance in its present form. "I may be wrong," Granger commented in giving his explanation why he objected.

"It is possible you can be wrong," Councilman Evans A. Fletcher interjected, "like you were on the statement made last meeting about the veterans."

The council last week authorized a .075 boost in the city tax rate to provide for a War Memorial Fund.

Fires Causes $1000 Damage to House

The Redwood City Fire Department late Tuesday afternoon and evening answered three calls, one to a house at 43 Charteris St. where approximately $1000 damage was done, and to a grass fire at Bayshore and D Sts., causing no damage and to a false alarm.

Fireman Lester Hill was given first aid at the 43 Charteris St. fire for glass in the hand. The fire started on a back porch and had reached the kitchen before being extinguished. Cause of the blaze had not been determined today.

Do You Like Bamboo?

Millions in the Far East depend on bamboo for food. They make beer from bamboo seeds, pickles and candy from sprouts. Some bamboo products are as apple-like fruit which is baked; the sprouts are a staple vegetable, cooked and served like asparagus.

Perfection Sacrilegious

Tribune-Lions Camp Fund Provides Opportunities for 14 Boys and Girls

Fourteen boys and girls who otherwise would not have the privilege of camping out this Summer at organized camps will have the opportunity from money contributed to the Lions Club-Tribune Campership Fund. More will be able to go provided some of the youngsters are able to pay part of their expenses.

Eighty dollars of the fund was specified for the Boy Scouts to send underprivileged boys to the camp at Memorial Park near Pescadero. The Lions Club specified $64 for boys in the troop it sponsors who otherwise would not have been able to go camping. The Exchange Club specified $16 to send a boy to Boy Scout camp.

The Exchange Club specified $16 to help send a boy to YMCA camp at Jones Gulch near La Honda. Gen. George S. Evans Woman's Relief Corps 36 specified $11 to pay expenses for a week for a girl at Girl Scout camp at Camp Chaparral in Big Basin.

Remainder of the fund will be divided equally among the three youth's organizations. Contributing to the campership fund were Kiwanis Club, $75; Lions Club, $64; Exchange Club, $32; Tribune, $32; Gen. George S. Evans Woman's Relief Corps 36, $11; office of Marshall S. Hanrahan, $7; W. H. Doozee, $5; J. R. Morris, $2; and M. S. Brewer, $1.

Soldiers Admit

Stealing Auto

Two soldiers who admitted stealing an automobile in Paso Robles were apprehended by Palo Alto police and a military policeman near Redwood City last week after a wild chase up the Peninsula, the sheriff's office reported today.

The automobile, owned by Elmer L. Willard of Paso Robles, had $250 in cash in a money sack in the trunk compartment of the car. The two soldiers, Pvt. John Soderstrom, 23, and Pvt. Albert Smith, 33, of Oklahoma, found the money and

'Human Torpedo'

Britain's "human torpedo" has a blunt nose acting as a breakwater protecting the crew of two. Powered by electric batteries, these craft dive under their targets, where the explosive charge mounted in the nose is detached and fixed to the enemy ship. admitted they spent all but $89 of it in "joins" along the road from Paso Robles, the sheriff's office said.

The two were turned over to military police.

How to torture your neighbors

ONE OF THE liveliest forms of torturing your neighbors is to barbecue some meat out in the backyard (of course, if you're in a good barbecuing mood, you'll invite them over!). And it's a guaranteed way to add special enjoyment to a July meal. Here are a few suggestions which experienced barbecuers have found useful (remember that it's just about the same as indoor broiling, except that the heat comes from underneath):

Give barbecue flavor to meats by marinating them for several hours before cooking, in French dressing or a spicy barbecue sauce; or swab them with either while grilling the meat.

Breast of lamb is deliciously different, when barbecued (allow 1 1/2-lb. per person); season, and grill for about an hour or until done, turning often.

Steaks, spareribs, chicken and fish are other barbecue favorites, of course—but be patient in cooking each of them!

Barbecue ears of corn simply by removing silk and husks, and grilling for about 10 minutes, turning and brushing frequently with melted butter or margarine.

And here's a "salsa-sauce" that goes with all barbecued meats and makes them taste extra good:

SALSA
1 medium onion 2 tbsps. salad oil
3 medium tomatoes 1 tsp. salt
1 large green pepper 1/2 tsp. mustard
2 tbsps. vinegar 1/4 tsp. celery seed

Peel onion; wash tomatoes and remove stem end; wash pepper and remove seeds. Finely chop all vegetables. Add vinegar, oil and seasonings; mix well. Let stand a few hours to blend flavors. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.
